

Inderdeep Kaur :- Dr. Inderdeep Kaur is an Associate Professor in Department of Botany, Sri Guru Tegh Bahadur Khalsa College, University of Delhi. She received her Doctoral degree from University of Delhi and continued research in the field of reproductive biology of seaweeds. She has made significant contributions and has over 40 publications in national and international journals of repute. Dr Inderdeep has also presented her work in over half a dozen international conferences. Dr Inderdeep retains interest in contemporary fields of plant sciences and has contributed chapters on various topics in national and international editions. Dr Inderdeep has been teaching reproductive biology of flowering plants to undergraduates for more than a decade and is actively engaged in collaborating research projects for undergraduates in college. Dr. Inderdeep has successfully handled and completed a few R&D projects and has supervised several students for research at all levels including doctorates.

Monika Koul :- Dr. Monika Koul is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Botany, Hans Raj College, University of Delhi. She is involved in teaching of plant embryology and plant reproductive ecology to the undergraduate students for the past 10 years. Dr Monika has received her graduation, masters and Ph.D. degrees from University of Delhi. She has been the recipient of Ramaseshan Fellowship from Current Science Academy, Indian Academy of Sciences, Bangalore. Dr Monika is a prolific science writer and has published numerous articles in science magazines of repute. She is also involved in popularizing plant sciences through various media but teaching is her passion.