

research interest includes distributed generation, control and operation of wind power, power system optimization. He has authored more than 40 research papers in national and international journals of repute and conferences.