

Communication Systems, 2/e

Dr. Manoj Duhan

2023	18x24	Paperback	ISBN: 9789390620166
------	-------	-----------	---------------------

About the Book

Communication is an integral part of everyone's life. The subject of communication systems includes all type of communications that are prevalent today. Communication is the study of the fundamental concepts and principles related to transferring reception, and processing of information between locations.

The new edition of Communication Systems is a valuable resource for all electronics and computer engineering graduates. The book contains basic concepts on Analog Communication and Digital Communication in easy and simple language. Numerical and objective type questions give an additional edge for preparation of semester and competitive exams. This is very important course as far as most of the competitive exams in the field of Electronics and Communication is concerned.

Salient Features

A thorough treatment of all the basic concepts related to Analog Communication with due emphasis on derivations and numerical treatment. Detailed coverage of all topics related to Analog Communication along with initial topics of Digital Communication also.

Simple language and explanation.

Good number of objective type questions are added at the end of every chapter so that one can prepare for competitive exams too.

Topics are approached from both technical as well procedural perspectives.

About the Author

Dr. Manoj Duhan :-

is Professor in ECE department & Chairman in BME Dept. at Deenbandhu Chhotu Ram University of Science & Technology, Sonapat, Haryana, India and was chairman of ECE department for three successive terms from 2008 to 2019. Presently, he is also Proctor, Director SIP, Nodal officer AICTE Doctoral Fellowship and Prof. In-charge purchase at DCRUST, Murthal. He was also Director Weekend Courses at DCRUS&T Murthal from 2011 to 2013.